I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 691

“David, you’re famous now, and you actually dismissed getting bestowed the title of number one among the younger generation in Somerland. Now, legends surrounding you have spread all over the outside world,” Mason said with a smile. “Old Master Stefani, you must be joking.

I don’t have any legends, and I really have no interest in being the number one among the younger generation in Somerland, so that’s why I dismissed it.” “You’re right, with your current strength, you are also the number one among the older generation, let alone among the younger generation. David, you always surprise me,” Mason sighed ruefully.

Mason had known that David was Silver Face for a long time. Lucas, the captain of Team Vulture in Falcon told him about it.

He also always felt that David was halfway to God Rank. However, the news from the Dark Cape in the past two days shocked him, a peak God Ranker, beyond recognition. David first showed the strength of a mid-God Ranker at the Black Sand Hotel, shocking all the forces participating in the grand event of the chosen ones in Somerland. Later, during the grand event of the chosen ones, he killed five beginner God Rankers and one mid-God Ranker in a row. His strength was thus upgraded to that of a late God Ranker.

‘A 22-year-old late God Ranker!

‘It is unheard of. ‘Perhaps the saying that heroes are born in troubled times is true after all. ‘David is the hero born in this troubled world and he is also prepared for this catastrophe. ‘Somerland is very lucky that David was born here.

‘God bless Somerland indeed!’ “Old Master Stefani, my strength is still far behind you, and I still need to continue to work hard,” David said modestly.

He knew that once he revealed his strength, he definitely would not be able to conceal it from Mason. This was especially true since Mason had known that he was Silver Face a long time ago. However, it would be good to reveal something to Mason as the former was going to form a team.

He wanted to ask the major sects and families to send powerful people to help maintain the stability of society.

With a large number of hidden sects and families resurfacing, there were always going to be some people who refused to abide by the rules.

The Special Task Force was starting to become ill-equipped to deal with these people, so there had to be a strong team to take care of them.

David was ready to lead this team himself.

Mason would not agree if he did not show his strength. After all, carrying out this task would be dangerous.

“It’s best if you think like this. Although you are a late-stage God Ranker now, you’re still far from a peak God Ranker. There are at least five peak God Rankers in this world besides me, so you can’t take this matter lightly.” “Are there so many peak God Rankers in the world?” David asked suspiciously. “At the very least, but definitely no less.”

“Then why can a peak God Ranker like you shock so many people?” “Besides myself, other peak God Rankers in the world are thinking about how to go further and reach another level. This is the goal they are pursuing. Compared with breakthroughs, everything else is nonsense to them, and they will only take action when they or their family are in a life-or-death situation.” “Why?”

“Because they don’t want to die.”

“Don’t want to die?”

“Yes, they don’t want to die. When someone becomes a peak God Ranker, they can control their body without using their hands and reduce their consumption to a very low level. Coupled with the effect of the powerful magnetic field, peak God Rankers can actually live a long time, and some peak God Rankers are actually older than me.”

“Then why did that happen to you not long ago?” David asked. If he had not learned Somerland Ancient Traditional Medicine not long ago to extend Mason’s life, he figured that Mason would not be around anymore.

Others could live that long, but why couldn't Mason? He also found no serious injuries on Mason.

"I'm different. Now, Somerland is supported by myself alone. Every once in a while, they will send people to test me and speed up my death. If I don't act, Somerland will be long gone, so although I became a peak God Ranker later than them, I will die earlier than then."

David understood.

Except for Mason, every peak God Ranker in the world was in seclusion because they wanted to live longer.

Because Mason had to protect Somerland and hostile forces would often come to harass him, he could not do the same to prolong his life.

David was in awe of Mason once again.

This old man really did too much for Somerland.

This old man single-handedly gave the people of Somerland today a life where they could live and work in peace and contentment.

"Old Master Stefani, please rest assured. I will continue to work hard to become a peak God Ranker as soon as possible to relieve you of some of your burdens," David said seriously.

"I feel relieved now that you've said this, but you can't expose yourself yet. Once someone finds out that you reach the late stage of God Rank at the age of twenty-two, they will definitely try their best to get rid of you. They finally waited until I died when another monster emerged in Somerland again, haha... I really want to know what these bastards will look like when they find out about this," Mason said and began to laugh. David watched Mason laugh happily and did not speak. This old man might have been too worried about the country and the people, resulting in him not laughing so cheerfully for a long time.

After Mason's laughter subsided, David said, "Old Master Stefani, when I killed that mid-God Ranker, he said that the grandmaster of his family is more powerful than you. Is that true?" "Oh? What's his name?" Mason asked.

"Saunders Chris."

“Oh, it’s the Chris family. The Chris family is one of the oldest families in the world and one of the most powerful families at the moment, but the grandmaster mentioned by this mid-God Ranker shouldn’t be their patriarch, Robert Chris. So who would that be?” Mason fell into deep thought after speaking. Soon, Mason thought of a legend.

It was said that the Chris family had a grandmaster hundreds of years ago and that he was still sleeping in the shrine of the Chris family. Moreover, this sleeping man of the Chris family was the pinnacle figure who suppressed an era hundreds of years ago. ‘Is it possible that this person from hundreds of years ago has woken up?’ Mason felt that it was impossible.

Unless... this sleeping person was a super-peak God Ranker.

“It’s alright, David. You just need to work hard and have a breakthrough as soon as possible. Leave the rest to me for the time being. I am still useful after you saved little old me.”

Mason did not want to put pressure on David, so he did not say what was on his mind.

Moreover, he did not think that it was likely.

“Old Master Stefani, do super-peak God Rankers exist?” David asked. He was the most worried about this at that moment. Even though he had broken through very quickly, what if a super-peak God Ranker appeared midway through his development? Who could stop them then? David could feel the impending chaos. Back then, it would be incredibly difficult to meet a single God Rank guardian, but now, six of them appeared at the same time.

“No, a peak God Ranker has the highest combat power in the world at the moment. Once someone passes this realm, they would be on a whole other level. If someone like this appears, even if all the peak God Rankers gathered, they would not be able to defeat them. This person would be able to control the entire world,” Mason said certainly. When David heard him say that, he let out a sigh of relief in his heart. It would be good if there was no such thing as a super-peak God Ranker. If he reached that level one day, he would not need to fear anyone.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 693

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 693

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 693

“Old Master Stefani, I have a suggestion,” David said. “Tell me.” “Now that the hidden sects and families have begun to fully come out of hiding, there will always be some people who don't want to abide by the rules and will want to reap without sowing to destroy the original balance of things.

I want these hidden families and sects who resurfaced to send one person based on their respective strengths. Then I will lead a team to maintain the stability of Somerland society. What do you think?” David expressed his thoughts. This was what he had been thinking this entire time. The full resurfacing of hidden families and sects would shake Somerland's originally stable society.

Some people would always want to reap without sowing and they would use their strength that surpassed that of ordinary people to start disrupting society. Over time, it would surely cause social unrest in Somerland. Ordinary people would not feel safe, and David did not want this to happen. If he did not have the system, he would just be an ordinary person. Moreover, his aunts and their families were just ordinary people performing their respective duties.

David could not put them at risk.

Therefore, he wanted to stifle this behavior and maintain the stability and interests of ordinary people.

He wanted to maintain stability in Somerland society.

This was also the idea that David got slowly after he encountered Mason and was influenced by the latter.

In the past, he only wanted to take care of his small family. As long as his interest and social circle were not affected, he would be fine. He felt that even if the sky fell, there would be tall people to help him hold it up, so it had nothing much to do with him.

However, after he interacted more with Mason, the deeper his understanding became. He expanded his small family to include the entire Somerland and now wanted to protect country's stability. This was the charm of Mason, the legendary old man of Somerland. Not only was he powerful, but he could also subtly influence the people around him.

“This idea is very good! Now, these families and sects have not yet fully resurfaced, and the Special Task Force is no longer as capable as before. Until now, Team Dragon has been the one maintaining social stability, but at the end of the day, there are too few people in Team Dragon and the territory of Somerland is too large. Once these people fully resurface, Team Dragon will be too busy. Hence, if you can get some people from these hidden sects and families, the effect will definitely be much greater. What a good idea!" Mason praised.

At the same time, he was very pleased.

Needless to say, David definitely was the greatest talent in history.

At the age of twenty-two, he became a late God Ranker. It was believed that David would surpass Mason soon, and might go even further than the latter.

It was truly a blessing for Somerland that David was born here and had his country in his heart.

At the very least, after Mason's death, Somerland would have David and would not collapse.

David was still young, and he would have no problem protecting Somerland for hundreds of years.

In the past, Mason had always worried that after his death, Somerland would be divided. So, he always tried not to act if he could. The longer he lived, the safer Somerland would be.

It was a pity that foreign forces had been continuously coming to test him, and in the end, he had no choice but to do something to shock everyone. Now, he was old now and was no longer in his peak. He could not even finish killing a few guardians who were beginner God Rankers.

However, he did not have to worry now.
