

Gu Lingfei: Married at First Sight Novel Chapter 1526

Chapter 1526

Zachary's cell phone started ringing.

Before Zachary looked at his phone, he told Josh, "It must be my wife calling. She may want to pick me up from the company after work."

Josh pouted. "Hey, I am doing pretty well myself. Heck, I'm even having my wedding before you. You don't have to show off your love and affection, it doesn't provoke me at all"

With a wide grin on his face, Zachary replied, "I'm not showing off That's just how my wife and I get along every day."

It was either Zachary picking Serenity up or the other way round It became the couple's daily routine.

The moment Zachary took out his phone and realized that it was Remy calling, his ever-handsome face twitched

Zachary thought it was Serenity who called. He did not expect it to be Remy

With eyes as sharp as a hawk, Josh saw that it was Remy's name on Zachary's screen.

Josh busted out laughing.

As Zachary gave him a mean glare, Josh turned away and continued his gleeful laughter

Despite the humiliating circumstance, Zachary answered Remy's call

"Mr. York."

Zachary responded with a grunt.

Remy could sense the annoyance in Zachary's voice. With a smile on his face, he apologetically said, " Sorry to interrupt you from your meals."

"I haven't taken my meal yet."

Zachary responded, without dropping the low voice.

"What do you need me for, Mr. Johnson?"

It must have been unrelated to official business.

Remy would follow the standard procedure and go through the secretary first if it was official business

By dialing Zachary's personal number, it would most probably be a private matter.

If Remy had private issues that could trouble Zachary, it must be related to Elisa.

"Oh, it's nothing urgent. It's just that I have some free time tonight, as I don't have any social activities to attend. Since you haven't eaten, I thought of inviting you to dinner. What say you?"

With a deep voice, Zachary said, "Sad to say, I have to socialize tonight. I can't make it. It's better to make an appointment with me in advance if you want to invite me for dinner next time."

Disappointed, Remy chuckled. "That's unfortunate. When will you be free then, Mr. York? Let's have dinner together"

"Are you by chance planning to return to Annenburg, Mr Johnson? I'm going to bring my wife there for a trip next week. Maybe you could invite us for dinner then if you decide to return."

Remy thought for a while and replied, "I'm not planning to return to Annenburg for now. Are you visiting

Annenburg next week, Mr. York? I'll inform my brother so he'll be there to welcome you when you arrive

Zachary said politely, "Sorry for troubling the both of you."

He aimed to take Serenity on a leisurely trip to relax. In hopes of building a friendship for Serenity and Jane, he also planned to give Ben and Jane a visit.

"It's no trouble at all, really"

Remy smiled and added, "I'll leave you to it then, Mr. York. I'll inform my brother so he can make preparations."

Jane was due to give birth in July. However, she was pregnant with twins, which might result in an early delivery in June.

It was already April and Jane had rarely left her house. Ben did not run the company to the fullest of his abilities, as he was always by his wife's side, awaiting the arrival of his two children.

Right after ending his conversation with Remy, Zachary heard a question from his friend.

“You’re taking your wife on vacation next week?”

“Alright, this is the plan. Seren will be too worried to leave while Liberty is still in the hospital. The good news is, Seren will be in the mood for a trip once Liberty is discharged next week.”

Zachary was busy with work on recent nights, trying to tie up loose ends-only then could he take some time off to accompany his wife on a trip as a diversion, all to relieve Serenity’s stress and to keep her from worrying about infertility.

“I won’t be working next week.”

Josh reminded his friend. He feared that the matters of the company would be relegated to him while Zachary went on a trip with his wife.

Zachary glanced at Josh and said with a chuckle, “Don’t worry, it wouldn’t affect your wedding. My wife and I will be back before your big day. After all, we are good friends with both of you, not to mention we were your matchmakers. We wouldn’t miss your wedding for the world.”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Gu Lingfei: Married at First Sight Novel Chapter 1527

Chapter 1527

“The Yorks have so many men. Even if you and I aren’t around, they’ll be able to hold up. Besides, I’m just going to be away for a few days. York Corp is a big group with mature management. Even if we’re not available for a month, the company will be fine,” Zachary said to Josh.

The mid-level and senior managers in the company were not raised for nothing.

Josh breathed a sigh of relief and chuckled as he said, “As long as you’re not asking me to stay in the office to work my butt off for you.”

Zachary said with amusement, “I’m not an exploiter Look how nervous you are I’ve never ordered you around, have I?”

“No, no, I’ve always volunteered to be ordered about by you.”

Zachary was lost for words.

Josh chuckled and said, "I should be glad to have worked hard for you. After finding your happiness, you didn't forget about me and matched Jasmine to me. We're good friends and brothers."

"You're as sweet as ever with your words. No wonder Ms. Sox fell for you and agreed to marry you so quickly," Zachary commented.

"It wasn't quick. We got together for half a year before getting married, okay? Is that fast? I can't wait to have a simple and good life with her."

Josh and Jasmine had gotten their marriage license, but they had not slept together.

Jasmine was still living with her family. Although Josh wanted it very badly, he did not dare sleep in her parent's house. Luckily, the wedding was not far away. Once the wedding was over, Josh would be able to sleep with Jasmine however he wanted.

Zachary and Josh chatted and soon arrived at Wiltspoon School.

School was over long ago, but there were still many vehicles in front of the school. The students' parents who attended the morning session were here to pick up their children. There were many cars and people.

Zachary's fleet discreetly avoided the traffic flow and parked in the most remote place so as not to easily attract everyone's attention.

Seeing that there were still so many people, Zachary instructed his bodyguards, "Wait in the cars, and don't follow us. There are too many people. We'll attract too much attention if you follow us."

This was a school, so Zachary did not want to be too high-profile and attract the students' attention.

Zachary and Josh got off together.

The two of them walked toward the bookstore.

Zachary was holding a bouquet at first. He remembered about it after taking a few steps and immediately turned back to put it back in the car.

Josh waited for him in the same spot. When Zachary returned, Josh teased him, "Why don't you hold the bouquet and wave it around? Many people are watching now"

"It's easy to do that but this isn't the right place"

The audience here was different

Zachary felt that it was best to keep a low profile in front of students. The best would be that people did not know who he was.

That said, it was quite difficult.

Zachary and Serenity's love story had long been hot news in Wiltspoon.

Almost everyone in Wiltspoon knew about them. Students were often on their mobiles nowadays and knew more than adults.

Zachary's identity was open and transparent to the students who often visited the bookstore.

Fortunately, Zachary was too serious and cold. Every time he showed up in the bookstore, he gave the students the feeling that he was stricter than their dean. As such, none of the female students fancied Zachary. Instead, everyone sympathized with Serenity for marrying such a grim-looking and indifferent man.

Zachary would probably be speechless if he knew that was how the students viewed his marriage with Serenity.

He was well aware that the bookstore's business would be bad if he showed up.

Zachary was sensible and stood at the door. He only went in when the students left after buying what they wanted.

Josh was sweeter than Zachary and liked to smile. Since he was more approachable, he directly went into the store to help.

Jasmine was happy to see Josh.

She smiled and asked, "Why are you here?"

"I'm here to pick you up from work so we can go home for dinner. We can also drop by our newlywed house on the way."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Gu Lingfei: Married at First Sight Novel Chapter 1528

Chapter 1528

Josh answered softly and whispered in Jasmine's ear, "I came with Zachary. He knows he looks too cold and will scare your little customers away, so he's standing guard in front of the store. He's more useful than a surveillance camera."

Jasmine chuckled

Serenity heard the young couple's conversation and knew her man was here too.

She looked out and saw Zachary's tall and robust body.

Zachary and Josh came after work. It was past the busiest time in the store

The former stood in front of the store for a few minutes and then entered

"Seren, can we go now?" Zachary asked his beloved wife gently

Serenity looked at the time and replied to him, "Soon"

She then said to her best friend, "Jas, why don't I leave first and you shut the door later before you leave?"

Jasmine readily agreed to it "Sure"

With that, Serenity went around the counter to go into the bathroom. She put on light makeup in the mirror before coming out of the bathroom.

After picking up her bag, Serenity went up to take Zachary's arm "Babe, let's go."

Serenity waved goodbye to her best friend.

Jasmine waved back at the couple and watched them leave

Once they were out of sight, Jasmine retracted her gaze and said to Josh, "Serenity had always been confident. She had low self-esteem for a while when she first learned about Zachary's real identity, but she quickly adjusted herself. Now, she's more confident than before."

"She adapted to her identity as the missus of the Yorks, as well as Zachary's social network. She's also deeply loved by Zachary and her in-laws. There's no way she's not confident."

Josh had never underestimated Serenity.

He also did not dare underestimate Liberty.

Josh admired Liberty even more because she raised and lived with her sister at the age of fifteen. Although she lost a lot from her first marriage and had also lost herself, she was past that.

The Hunt sisters were amazing.

Josh did not find it surprising that his two buddies were enchanted by the sisters.

“So is my wife.”

Josh did not forget to compliment his wife after praising someone else’s wife.

Jasmine grinned “I never know what it means to have low self-esteem. Anyway, help move the shelves at the entrance inside and everything in as well. We can go after that. Did you say we’d be going to see our newlywed house?”

“Yep, the house we’ll live in after the wedding. You haven’t seen it with me yet,” Josh answered while walking out to help carry things inside

Jasmine asked, “I thought we’ll live in your house after our wedding.”

“We’ll definitely go home on our wedding day Once we’re back from our honeymoon, we’ll live in the hilltop villa. Zachary also has a large villa there You’ve been there before, right? Our home is also near there, so it’ll be convenient for you and Serenity to meet.”

Jasmine responded, “Oh, you have a house there too.”

Josh had taken her to visit a few villas that belonged to him. She thought that was all, so she did not expect there to be others she had not visited.

“I have a lot of houses in all the major cities in the country, but I have the most in Wiltspoon. I decided to make the hilltop villa our home because it’s the biggest and has the most luxurious decorations. Besides, it’s also closest to Zachary’s house. I’m sure you’ll like it.

“We have many houses, so I can’t show you all of them at once. When we have time in the future, let’s live in the different houses one by one.”

Jasmine chuckled and said, “I end up living as a landlady, after all”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Gu Lingfei: Married at First Sight Novel Chapter 1529

Chapter 1529

Josh laughed and asked Jasmine. “Isn’t it good to be a landlady? I remember you said you didn’t have a big dream and will be content with living as a landlady as your parents did

“Being a landlady is too boring. All I do is collect rent every day.” Jasmine replied to him.

“You can ask me to collect rent for you”

Jasmine laughed. “You’re a landlord yourself”

Back then, she did not want to help her parents collect rent every day so she rented this place and opened a bookstore with Serenity to pass the time

It did not matter if they made money as long as she did not need to go around collecting rent

“The people from our hometown found things to do to pass the time My aunt drives a Porsche to work now, which is better than her boss’s car She’s a cleaner and gets about three grand a month, but she does a serious job.

“Her boss said her car was too good, so she drove a BMW instead the next day. Her boss still thought that it was still too nice of a car, so she could only buy an electric vehicle Like me, she drives that electric vehicle every day to be paid about three grand a month at work.”

Josh laughed so hard that his stomach hurt. This is the portrait of the life of Wiltspoonians

Families had several houses for rent. Those who were as amazing as Jasmine’s family had many buildings and stores for rent The monthly rent was something that could not even be earned by many people in a lifetime.

After putting away the shelves in front of the store, Jasmine pushed her e-bike in and locked the store She left in Josh’s car.

Josh brought Jasmine to the hilltop villa.

It was several hundred meters away from Zachary’s house.

It did not cover as large of an area as Zachary’s house did, but the decorations were not inferior at all.

Josh’s car entered the villa. He drove to the entrance of the house and stopped.

Before getting out of the car, Jasmine saw the two rows of people standing in front of the house.

There were about twenty of them comprising maids, a chauffeur, and bodyguards hired by Josh to serve.

Jasmine.

“There are so many people.”

Jasmine commented softly. “There are more people here than there are in your family.”

She remembered that her in-laws did not have that many servants.

Josh unfastened his seatbelt and said, “They’re specially hired to serve you. There aren’t many of them- only over twenty I can hire a few more if they’re not enough. They’re all experienced in their trades and can take good care of you.”

Jasmine was speechless.

How was over twenty people not a lot?

Jasmine’s family was also nich, but they did not hire maids. They would only hire a few part-timers to help spring clean during festivities.

Big and small affairs in their family were usually handled by Jasmine’s parents. Echoing her mother, if there was no housework to do, they could only live their days counting the money they had.

“You’ve been to Wildridge Manor. The Yorks are the ones with plenty of servants. Their family splits tasks in detail, so there are nearly a thousand workers in the manor

Josh felt that since he and Jasmine had just gotten married and that there were only two of them, they did not need so many attendants for the time being. Once their family had new members, he would hire a few nannies.

Jasmine did not say anything else.

“Let’s get off and meet everyone. You’ll be their missus from now on.”

Josh’s parents would not move here to live with them, so he and Jasmine would be the bosses of this villa.

“Sir, madam.”

After the couple got out of the car, the two rows of people standing in front of the house greeted them with respect under the butler’s lead.

Jasmine responded to them with a smile.

“Sir, madam, dinner is ready,” the butler said respectfully.

Josh replied gently, "We're not used to people serving us during dinner. You're dismissed."

The butler waved his hand, and the servants dispersed in an orderly manner.

Only the butler was left following the couple into the house.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Gu Lingfei: Married at First Sight Novel Chapter 1530

Chapter 1530

The table in the dining room was filled with Jasmine's favorite dishes.

"Sir, madam, enjoy your meal "

After Josh and Jasmine took their seats, the butler said respectfully and excused himself. He left the opportunity to take care of Jasmine for Josh.

Josh had always taken great care of Jasmine, who was also a foodie. Even if they had dinner by themselves, they would enjoy their food very much.

After the meal, Josh took Jasmine for a walk in the courtyard to get her familiarized with the environment.

That night, the young couple stayed in the villa.

In the following days, Josh picked up Jasmine after work every day and returned to their home.

The happy days passed quickly

Another week was over in the blink of an eye.

Josh began his marriage leave.

After Liberty was discharged from the hospital, Zachary brought Serenity to Annenburg for a break and a vacation as he usually did in the past.

Liberty still needed home rest after being discharged. Before flying to Annenburg, Serenity asked Elisa to help control her sister, not allowing her to resume work at the store too soon.

Zachary took Serenity to Annenburg to meet Jane, Iris, and the others. They did not stay there for long. After all, they had to rush back to attend Josh and Jasmine's wedding.

By the end of April, the weather was pleasant in Wiltspoon. It was neither too cold nor too hot.

The weather was great on Josh and Jasmine's wedding day. The sun was high up in the sky.

Camryn, who had been avoiding Callum for half a month, finally showed up on the wedding day.

She was friends with Serenity and Jasmine. Now that Jasmine was getting married, it would not be right if she did not show up.

Jasmine tried hard to ask Camryn to be her bridesmaid but was rejected. Camryn could not see, so she felt that it would not be good for others to take care of her as a bridesmaid

In the end, Jasmine's bridesmaids were made up of distinguished ladies led by Elisa and Tasha. On the other hand, Josh's groomsmen were not short of amazing too. Apart from Zachary, the other young men of the Yorks were the groomsmen.

There were also Remy, Duncan, and some young men of the Buchams.

All in all, the groomsmen team was awesome, and all of them were handsome.

The Johnsons from Annenburg arranged for other members of the family to come over. Ben did not attend the wedding to congratulate the couple because Jane's baby bump was getting too big. He was worried, so he arranged for his younger brothers to attend the wedding instead, bearing generous gifts

Many bigwigs from other cities attended the wedding with their wives.

In short, Josh and atmes wedding shook the whole of Wiltspoon.

Camryn deliberately hid in a corner during the wedding dinner

Another person who was hiding on purpose was Liberty.

The two of them coincidentally hid together.

"Liberty, why are you sitting here too?" Camryn asked with concern.

She was hiding in the corner because she was avoiding Callum. She quietly listened to the sounds of merriment around her.

However, why was Liberty hiding?

“My body has just recovered, and I’m not used to the liveliness yet, so I’m sitting somewhere further and quiet.”

In fact, Liberty could not stand the passionate gaze of Duncan’s pursuit.

As long as Duncan looked at Liberty, Mrs. Lewis would glare at her and keep an eye on her. Mrs. Lewis did everything to stop Duncan from coming over to talk to Liberty and desperately pushed Lily toward him.

Duncan had not confessed his feelings, but Liberty knew what he was thinking.

Liberty had also calmly thought about it. She did not have feelings for Duncan and had never thought about it.

She felt wronged to be guarded against by Mrs. Lewis.

Camryn said gently, “Then I’ll sit here with you and be your company, Liberty.”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-