Chapter 1536

What Camryn's aunts said hurt her deeply.

She had low self-esteem, to begin with, and felt unworthy of Callum

After hearing their remarks, she felt more strongly about staying away from him.

She was blind!

She could not see anything.

Nonetheless, Callum warned the two women with a dark face, "I won't do anything to you since you're Camryn's aunts! That said, shut your dirty mouths! I don't need you to tell me if Camryn is good or bad-I just like her. Your daughters aren't even worthy of being my servants!"

Once Camryn agreed to marry him, she would be the Yorks' second missus. By then, her aunts' daughters would not even be worthy of being her servants!

"Why are you still standing around? Throw the trash out and clean up now!"

Callum raised his voice.

The Newmans' bodyguards were sharp. They chose to follow Camryn's order.

No matter how the two aunts insulted and pushed them, along with the servants, they quickly moved all the things outside and left them at the villa's entrance.

Camryn's aunts refused to leave. They kept cursing and swearing.

Camryn said to her butler coldly, "Since my aunts don't want to leave in their cars, take a knife outside to puncture their car tires. They don't want to drive anyway, so they don't need the tires."

"Camryn!"

Camryn walked to the sofa and sat down.

She did not care about her aunts' insults at all and did not want to argue with them anymore.

She would not let them move in here anyway.

Camryn could not see yet. If her aunts moved in now and moved out later on, she would not know if they took everything in her house away.

She knew what her aunts were plotting.

They just wanted to take advantage of the window of opportunity now.

After all the trouble, Camryn's aunts finally left.

They left in anger

In fact, they left very quickly, afraid that their tires would be punctured if they took any longer

After leaving the villa, Camryn's aunts said in unison, "Let's go visit Mrs York tomorrow I don't believe that the elders of the Yorks can accept their son liking a blind girl"

Aunt Brenda added. "No wonder Camryn became tough all of a sudden She dares hold the property to herself and fights us for the company's ownership It turns out that she's backed by the second son of the Yorks"

Camryn's aunts did not know what she did to make Callum fall for her

He was the second young master of the Yorks!

Who would not want their daughters of marrying age to get together with men of the Yorks?

Camryn's aunts dreamed of being in-laws with the Yorks.

Unfortunately, the men of the Yorks could not be easily pursued.

Their daughters could hardly even meet them, let alone pursue them.

Some time ago, the Yorks' seventh son held a birthday party. The Yorks threw him a birthday party to celebrate his debut into the workforce.

So far, seven young men of the Yorks were known to the public. It seemed like many opportunities, but they were out of reach.

"Brenda, are you going to leave just like that?"

Brenda said, "We'll go back first. Come and find me tomorrow, and we'll go visit Mrs. York at Wildridge Manor tomorrow. The man earlier is the eldest son of Old Mrs. York's second son. Mrs. York values her eldest son the most. She certainly won't agree to her son liking a blind girl."

As long as they ruined the relationship between Camryn and Callum, Camryn would not be backed by anyone, and everything belonging to the Newmans would belong to them.

Chapter 1537

Their only nephew, Trenton, was still a fledgling. He was not a concern to them at all.

The sisters learned from the lawyer that their brother and sister-in-law would be heavily sentenced. Their sister-in-law, in particular, was involved in criminal activities. She could probably be sentenced to jail for ten or twenty years. Their elder brother had killed their younger brother. If the police conducted a thorough investigation, he would be punished gravely to pay for his sins.

Since their elder brother and sister-in-law would have to spend the rest of their lives in jail, they could not let the blind Camryn reap all the benefits of the substantial net worth and big businesses raked in by Newman Enterprise. They had to snatch it over and divide it between themselves. Each of them could get 500 million dollars.

“Brenda, should we act as witnesses and provide our testimonies when Cain’s trial starts?”

Amy thought of Cain’s case and asked about it in a whisper

They did not have evidence that Cain and his wife had killed Abel, but they knew those two had something to do with his death. All evidence had long been destroyed by Cain and their sister-in-law.

However, Amy and Brenda had been closer to Cain all along. It was Evelyn who was the closest to Abel. After he died, Evelyn got into a big fight with Cain and rarely returned home afterward. She had been heartbroken.

Evelyn only started coming back more often after Camryn almost died back then.

“We’ll wait and see. If Camryn has the ability to go against Cain, then we won’t have to do anything. If she doesn’t, we’ll do nothing too. If Cain’s not defeated this time, he’ll be released.”

Having Cain in the family had given Amy and Brenda backing against their in-laws. They would still be on his side as long as there were still benefits.

If Camryn could deal with their brother and sister-in-law, they would only have to fight for inheritance with Camryn.

However, if Camryn were that capable, it would be difficult for them to fight for the assets.

They did not expect the blind girl, who usually looked useless, to be hiding so much from them.

The moment Cain got into trouble, the blind girl bought over Dalton and took over Newman Enterprise first. Their sons, who had been working under their brother, could not even snatch the opportunity.

Amy and Brenda never thought Dalton would help Camryn to take over Newman Enterprise. Although their sons also worked at Newman Enterprise, their positions were lower than Dalton's.

The sisters left the Newmans' villa together

Peace finally returned to the villa.

Camryn said to the butler, "If my aunts return again, don't agree to whatever they ask to do I'll bear the consequences for everything. You all were hired by my mom, and your loyalty belongs to her. My mom still has another child, a son, besides me. It'll never be my aunts' place to come back and take over everything"

She knew everyone's loyalty was not to her

She was not in a rush to switch them out either

A mass clean-up would have to wait until she completely had Newman Enterprise under her control.

However, those people would still help her out of consideration for Trenton. They would protect the house for him.

Camryn hated her stepfather and biological mother, but she would not hate her brother After holding on to the Newman family's assets, she would hand over Trenton's portion to him.

"Yes, Ms. Camryn."

The butler poured a glass of water for Callum. After putting it down, she listened to Camryn's orders and replied to her respectfully.

He listened to Ms. Camryn's arrangements because he saw her treating Mr. Trenton as usual and not doing anything to hurt the young master.

As Ms. Camryn said, they all were loyal to Mrs. Newman. Mrs. Newman had three children. Ms. Camryn could be ignored, but not the young master

They were not protecting Ms. Camryn's house. They were simply defending the home for the young master.

That would be enough to repay Mrs. Newman's care to them over all those years.

"You all can rest after pouring some water for Mr. York. I don't need you all serving me."

The butler acknowledged the order respectfully again and gestured to the others to follow her out. Only Callum and Camryn were left in the grand hall.

Chapter 1538

Callum accepted the glass of warm water and took an elegant sip.

"Callum."

Camryn faced him and spoke calmly, "I'm not your fiancée!"

"Not now, but you'll be my fiancée and my wife in the future."

Callum said bossily, "Camryn, I'll marry nobody else but you after setting my mind on you. Whether you escape or accept this, I'll only take you as my wife.

"I know I offended you last time. It was my mistake. It's understandable that you're angry at me, but I don't regret it. I wanted to kiss you because I like you. I wanted to show everyone that you're my woman."

Camryn was angered by Callum's bossy tone to the extent she did not want to talk anymore.

"Camryn, don't avoid me anymore."

Callum scooted over and took her bag.

"What are you doing, Callum?"

Camryn wanted to snatch her bag back. Callum held her down with one hand and raised her bag high with the other. She could not take her bag back because she could not see.

“Don’t worry. I just want your phone number.”

Callum stood and opened her bag. He took her phone from inside and dialed his number. That way, she would get her new phone number.

“If you change numbers again, I’ll move to your store and live there. Let’s see how you can avoid me then.”

After realizing that threatening was useful, Callum started being thick-skinned. He turned brazen and used all sorts of threats.

It made Camryn have the urge to chase him out.

“I’ll arrange for two bodyguards to follow you tomorrow. I’ll protect my fiancée.”

Callum said, “The York family’s bodyguards are skilled in fighting. I’ll feel at ease having them with you.”

He would know her whereabouts at any time too.

“I don’t need your protection.”

“Stop being stubborn, Cam. I’m aware I don’t know you well enough yet. You’re hiding many things deeply. but you’re blind. You’re weak because of that.”

After getting Camryn’s new phone number, Callum placed her phone back inside her bag.

He sat beside her again and fixed his dark eyes on her cute face.

Seeing her stubborn expression, he poked her red lips with his finger dotingly. It made her cover her mouth out of reflex and surprise.

“Although I want to taste your sweetness again, it’ll only anger you again. I’ll hold myself back for now.

When the time I can do as I wish comes, I’ll take my share with interest included.

“I’ll let you kiss me back if you’re still angry. Cam. How does that sound?”

Camryn was speechless.

“Callum, didn’t you hear what my aunts said? I’m blind. I’m not good enough for you, so stop wasting your time on me. You can marry a girl who’s a hundred or thousand times better than me as your wife”

“What did your aunts say? I didn’t manage to listen clearly, and I won’t. I’m the one who decides whether you’re good enough for me or not. If I say you deserve me, then you do.”

Callum poked her forehead with his finger again bossily and dotingly. “Stop overthinking. Cam. I’ve never disliked you. You don’t have to care about what others say too. It’s enough as long as I don’t dislike you.”
